

MYSTERY SCENTED IN HOTEL SUICIDE

Jewels Worth $25,000 Missing From Room of Woman Victim.

SON UNABLE TO GET ANY TRACE OF GEMS

Tells New York Police His Mother Must Have Been Robbed and Murdered.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The police of this city were confronted with a strange death mystery today when a woman who committed suicide at the Grand Union Hotel last night was identified as Mrs. M. A. Haines, of Bridgeport, Conn. A son of Mrs. Haines declared over the long distance telephone that the description of the woman tallied exactly with that of his mother, who has been missing since early yesterday.

When told that the woman had registered in his mother's name the young man said there could be no doubt but what she was his mother and he would come on to New York at once.

Mr. Haines said his father had died two years ago, but he was sure that he had nothing to do with his mother's suicide. He said he was unable to assign a reason for her act unless it was because of illness.

The utmost secrecy was thrown around the case by employees of the hotel. Everything possible was done to keep the identity of the woman a secret and all information concerning the case was refused.

Had $5,000 in Jewels.

When Henry Haines, son of the woman found shot to death, arrived from Bridgeport today he declared his mother had $25,000 worth of jewelry in her possession when she left her home yesterday.

The young man stated that since his arrival here he had been unable to get any trace of the jewels, and that nobody he had seen in connection with the case seemed to know anything about them. The son of Mrs. Haines first went to the hotel upon his arrival and was told that his mother's body had been sent to an undertaking establishment at 307 West Fifty-first street.

After viewing the body the young man asked about the jewelry, but no one knew anything about it.

Mr. Haines declared he did not believe his mother had committed suicide.

The police declared that they knew nothing of the $25,000 in jewels reported to have been in the possession of Mrs. Haines, but suggested that the detective bureau to demand a complete investigation into the mysterious disappearance of the gems.

PANAMA SNATCHED AS CAR SPEEDS BY

Thief Reaches Through Window for Hat of Passenger on "L" Train.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Max Wolff, who described himself as a business man with offices in Madison street, rushed into the East Twenty-fifth street station wild with indignation, and told Captain Cray that he had lost a magnificent new Panama, worth $25, under the following painful circumstances.

He was a passenger on a southbound Third Avenue "L" train at 9:30 p. m. As the train was pulling away from Thirty-fourth street some one standing on the station platform stuck his hand through a window of the car and seized Wolff's valuable headgear. Whirling around in his seat, Wolff tried to catch the thief, but the man disappeared. Wolff evidently thinking he meant to jump into space, forcibly restrained him. He asked the nearest station agent, but the agent refused. At Twenty-eighth street Wolff, hatless and furious, left the train and went to the station. He declared that he would tell the story, that it might serve as a warning to all citizens wearing hats in "L" trains.

SQUAW DECLINES TO SHOVEL COAL

Being Squaw Only Nominally She Musses Up Her Indian Husband.

TRENTON, N. J., June 21.—Walter Atus sat on the brake wheel at the end of a 100-ton coal car and watched Mrs. Atus shovel coal.

Atus is a full-blooded Sioux Indian, and Mrs. Atus is an ordinary red-blooded Caucasian female, who didn't mind being a squaw as the lawfully wedded wife of an Indian, but when the Indian put her at work, while he just sat around and smoked, why that made Mrs. Atus mad. She abused him and berated him, but to no effect. Then she tried plaintive pleadings, but he did not move the red man. He still bestrode the brake wheel and sang.

Finally Mrs. Atus dropped her shovel and called into Atus, dethroning him from his perch and nussing up his features and clothing with the inky coal dust. The Indian seemed to be coming off second best when Patrolman Chapman arrived upon the scene.

A number of bystanders told him of the circumstances and he determined to give both belligerents an opportunity to tell Police Justice Harris how it happened.

DIAZ TAKES STEPS TO QUELL REVOLT

Wholesale Arrests Made in Towns Along the Mexican Border.

EL PASO, Tex., June 21.—Fully 250 persons have been arrested in the Mexican border towns by government troops and the police, charged with having arranged an uprising against the Diaz government, which was set for June 26.

Arms are being found and a house-to-house search is still going on, both for weapons and persons suspected of treasonable designs against the government.

The persons who planned the revolt are making demands for a free press, free speech, and honest elections. They are followers of Gen. Bernardo Reyes or of Senor Madero, the opposition candidate for the presidency.

When certain American border towns sold out their supply of firearms the Mexican forces became active. It is believed that in consequence of the respective measures anticipated uprising for June 26 will fall short.

The soldiers are also making many arrests throughout Sonora, the prisoners being charged with disturbing public meetings. The troops have orders to permit no assemblage of more than fifty persons. The chief of police of Cananea has resigned and fled as the measures of the authorities have played his life in danger.

Twelve leaders have been taken from Cananea to a place of safety outside. It will be held there by the authorities until the elections are over.

The custom house and postoffice at Sonora are under guard today in fear of an attack by revolutionists.

An attack on Naco, Sonora, from both sides of the line is planned by the revolutionists, according to advices received by Mexican Consul Torrey at Naco, Ariz. He communicated with his government and troops were immediately dispatched. The Mexican authorities bought all the arms and ammunition for sale in Naco, Ariz., last night and took them across the line. This step was taken to prevent the revolutionists from obtaining the weapons.

All men caught in Mexico carrying arms or ammunition are arrested and held as suspects. Many arrests have been made in Cananea, the prisoners being sent to Hermosillo.

DECLARES WRIGHTS BORROWED HIS IDEA

Aeroplane Inventor Says He Will Serve Notice of Alleged Infringement.

NEW YORK, June 21.—For the purpose of serving notice on the Wright Company of an alleged infringement of his patent planes and wings of a flying machine, Alexander V. Wilson, an aeroplane inventor of Bar Harbor, Me., is here today.

The patent which Wilson claims the Wrights infringed, is one for elevating and depressing an aeroplane and maintaining equilibrium in the air. Wilson claims he made application for his patent in 1906 and that it was issued in September, 1909. The Wrights, he alleges, saw his model at the aeroplane show here in 1906 and adapted the invention for their machines.

Wilson said that he does not object to the use of his patent by aviators, provided recognition is given him, but claims the Wrights refused to do this.

HAILSTONE RECORDS TOTALLY ECLIPSED

York Man Claims One Weighing Fifty Pounds Dropped in His Back Yard.

YORK, Pa., June 21.—"Hailstones as large as hen's eggs" has come to be quite a bromidion in storm descriptions disseminated from different sections of the country, but William Diefenbaker, who lives in West Baptist avenue and a member of the church, too—says that a composite hailstone, made up of a great many smaller ones, weighing about fifty pounds, fell in his back yard Saturday night.

It was thirty-six inches long and fourteen inches wide, he says. To prove his tale, Diefenbaker called in several neighbors to view the phenomenon. Several of them threw cold water, as it were, on the remarkable incident by testifying that in their opinion some one had swept together a lot of hailstones of ordinary size and formed a rough ball of them.

RUSSIAN SUSPECT IS FREED AT COMO

Advances Theory in Charlton Case, But Has No Substantiation.

COMO, Italy, June 21.—After being held ten days as a suspect in connection with the murder of Mrs. Mary Scott Castle Charlton, Constantine Isopoltoff, the Russian, is today a free man and is apparently doing what he can to aid the police to solve the mystery.

Although released, Isopoltoff was ordered to remain for the present within call of the police, several of whom are still confident that the Russian will become involved in the crime.

Isopoltoff today gave the police his theory of the crime; that Porter Charlton, the missing husband of the dead woman, killed his wife after long premeditation, as a result of brooding over some incident in her life previous to the time he met her. Isopoltoff offered nothing in substantiation of this theory except his own opinion, which he said was based on a close study of Charlton's actions.

OLD SURREY CHAPEL TO BE BOXING HALL

Famous Structure Built in 1783 for the Rev. Rowland Hill.

LONDON, June 21.—The old Surrey Chapel in Blackfriars road, S. E., is about to be turned into a boxing hall. Surrey Chapel, which is an octagonal structure with a circular interior, was built in 1783 for that great divine, the Rev. Rowland Hill, a deacon of the Established Church, who turned Dissenter, and whose vehement eloquence, wit, and warm heart made him a preacher who drew all the town.

Twisted about the curious shape of his chapel, Rowland Hill repented of like round buildings, as they prevent the devil from hiding in corners. On one occasion the pastor noted that people were entering his chapel to shelter from a storm, and to them he remarked: "Keep your religion in some firm cloak, but I never heard of it being an umbrella."

GIVEN UP AS DEAD, DAUGHTER RETURNS

Father and Brothers Hard to Convince When Girl Bursts in Upon Them.

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 21.—When Mary Lacy Young walked into her home today and threw herself into the arms of her father it was as if a grave had yawned and yielded up its dead, for the young woman had been given up as such three years ago.

A fortnight ago a young woman was seen to commit suicide by throwing herself into Lake Erie from a pier at Sandusky. From the description the father and brothers were convinced that it was Mary Lacy Young and gave up the chase. When the young woman burst upon the family circle all were dumfounded and she had difficulty in convincing the home folks that she was Mary. She had brought with her her husband, Granville Young. Her parents objected to the match and herein lies the secret of her three years' absence.
